

Idea Competition for Promoting Human Rights and Gender Equality

Have you ever experienced discomfort with the environment or facilities which do not consider diversity issues on campus? The Center for Human Rights and Ethics invites you to share ideas on how to address discomfort caused by discriminations based on gender, ethnicity, disability and others, and to embrace diversity.

All members of the KAIST community are encouraged to join the idea competition to create a campus that ensures gender equality and human rights.

A small gift will be provided for all participants.
